

Below is a 'print screen' of a VisualAPL Cielo Explorer session which uses )xmlout. After using )xmlout on the original definition of the variable x, I directly edited the text of the x.xml file and used Ctrl+E+E to update the variable x in the Cielo session. Note that I did not have to execute 'using System.Serializable Attribute'.

Also note that in VS2008 one can simultaneously view two or more program file windows.

When you have time, please indicate why you think that you must execute 'using System.Serializable Attribute' before using )xmlout in the Cielo Explorer session.